Your program has three phases: lose the weight, let your body adjust, and learn to eat and live at your new weight.

YOUR THREE PHASES

1 Weight Loss

First 8–24 weeks

- Baseline labs and personalized treatment plan
- Weekly or biweekly check-ins (in-person or telehealth)
- Medication, nutrition, and activity adjusted as needed
- Follow-up labs around week 8, then every 12 weeks
- What you're tracking: weight, measurements, energy, cravings

2 Recalibration

8–12 weeks

"Teach your metabolism this new weight is the new normal."

- Hold your weight within a narrow band — no more losing, no regaining
- Gradually adjust calories and macros upward as appropriate
- Fine-tune or begin reducing medications when clinically safe
- Labs every ~12 weeks, tied to provider visits

3 Reverse & Transition

8–12 weeks

"Raise your food and activity to a long-term level without regaining."

- Gradually increase intake and activity to sustainable levels
- Lock in routines for work, travel, and weekends
- Build your long-term follow-up plan with your provider
- Transition into Range Continued Care Membership to keep your results
